Inheritance (Ben Hood Thrillers Book 25)

Synopsis

Ex Detective Sergeant Ben Hood unexpectedly inherits his aunt's beachfront land and a beautiful house following her death. Her doctor indicated that she had suffered a heart attack and she was buried without an autopsy. Ben found some garden hose protruding through a tiny hole in her bedroom floor. He suspected a gas had been introduced to trigger a heart attack. Her body was exhumed and an autopsy performed. She had been murdered. Her doctor then fatally shot himself. Ben's sudden windfall was about to become his greatest nightmare.

Customer Reviews

Another great Ben Hood read by Lindsay. Spoiler alert. This one starts with Rod and Ben at Rod's house. Seems Rose and Rod are having a few problems and Ben suggests a sexy holiday. Rose isn't hard to convince but Rod is his usual pig headed self. He does finally agree though so he and Rose are on their way to an exclusive island getaway. Ben then learns he's inherited a house and land in Shellharbour which is outside Sydney. His Aunt Annie Porter, a woman he hasn't seen in thirty years has died and left her house and two million dollars and her entire estate to Ben. Ben decides he will go and take a look at what he's inherited. On arrival the first person he meets is Beatrice Ferri. Ferri is sixty seven years old but has quite the figure for her age. Of course Ben notices this. She's also one dirty old woman who makes a play for Ben. Not happening. Ferri does tell Ben that there is a real estate company that's been trying to buy the four beachfront properties of which Annie Porters, now Bens, is one. Ferri, Ben, Sharon Wallace and Alfred Wicker are the homeowners and threats have been made by Cotter and Slate the real estate company headmen. So begins another fine Ben Hood read. This one has Ben, Sharon, her daughter Miranda, Alfred Wicker, Ferri, a python named Bruce, a Rod and Rose rediscovering their love on a sexy vacation, a Ben who discovers his Aunt was murdered, the police, crooked cops, Detective Sgt.
